

2015

ACA TAX REPORTING REQUIREMENTS

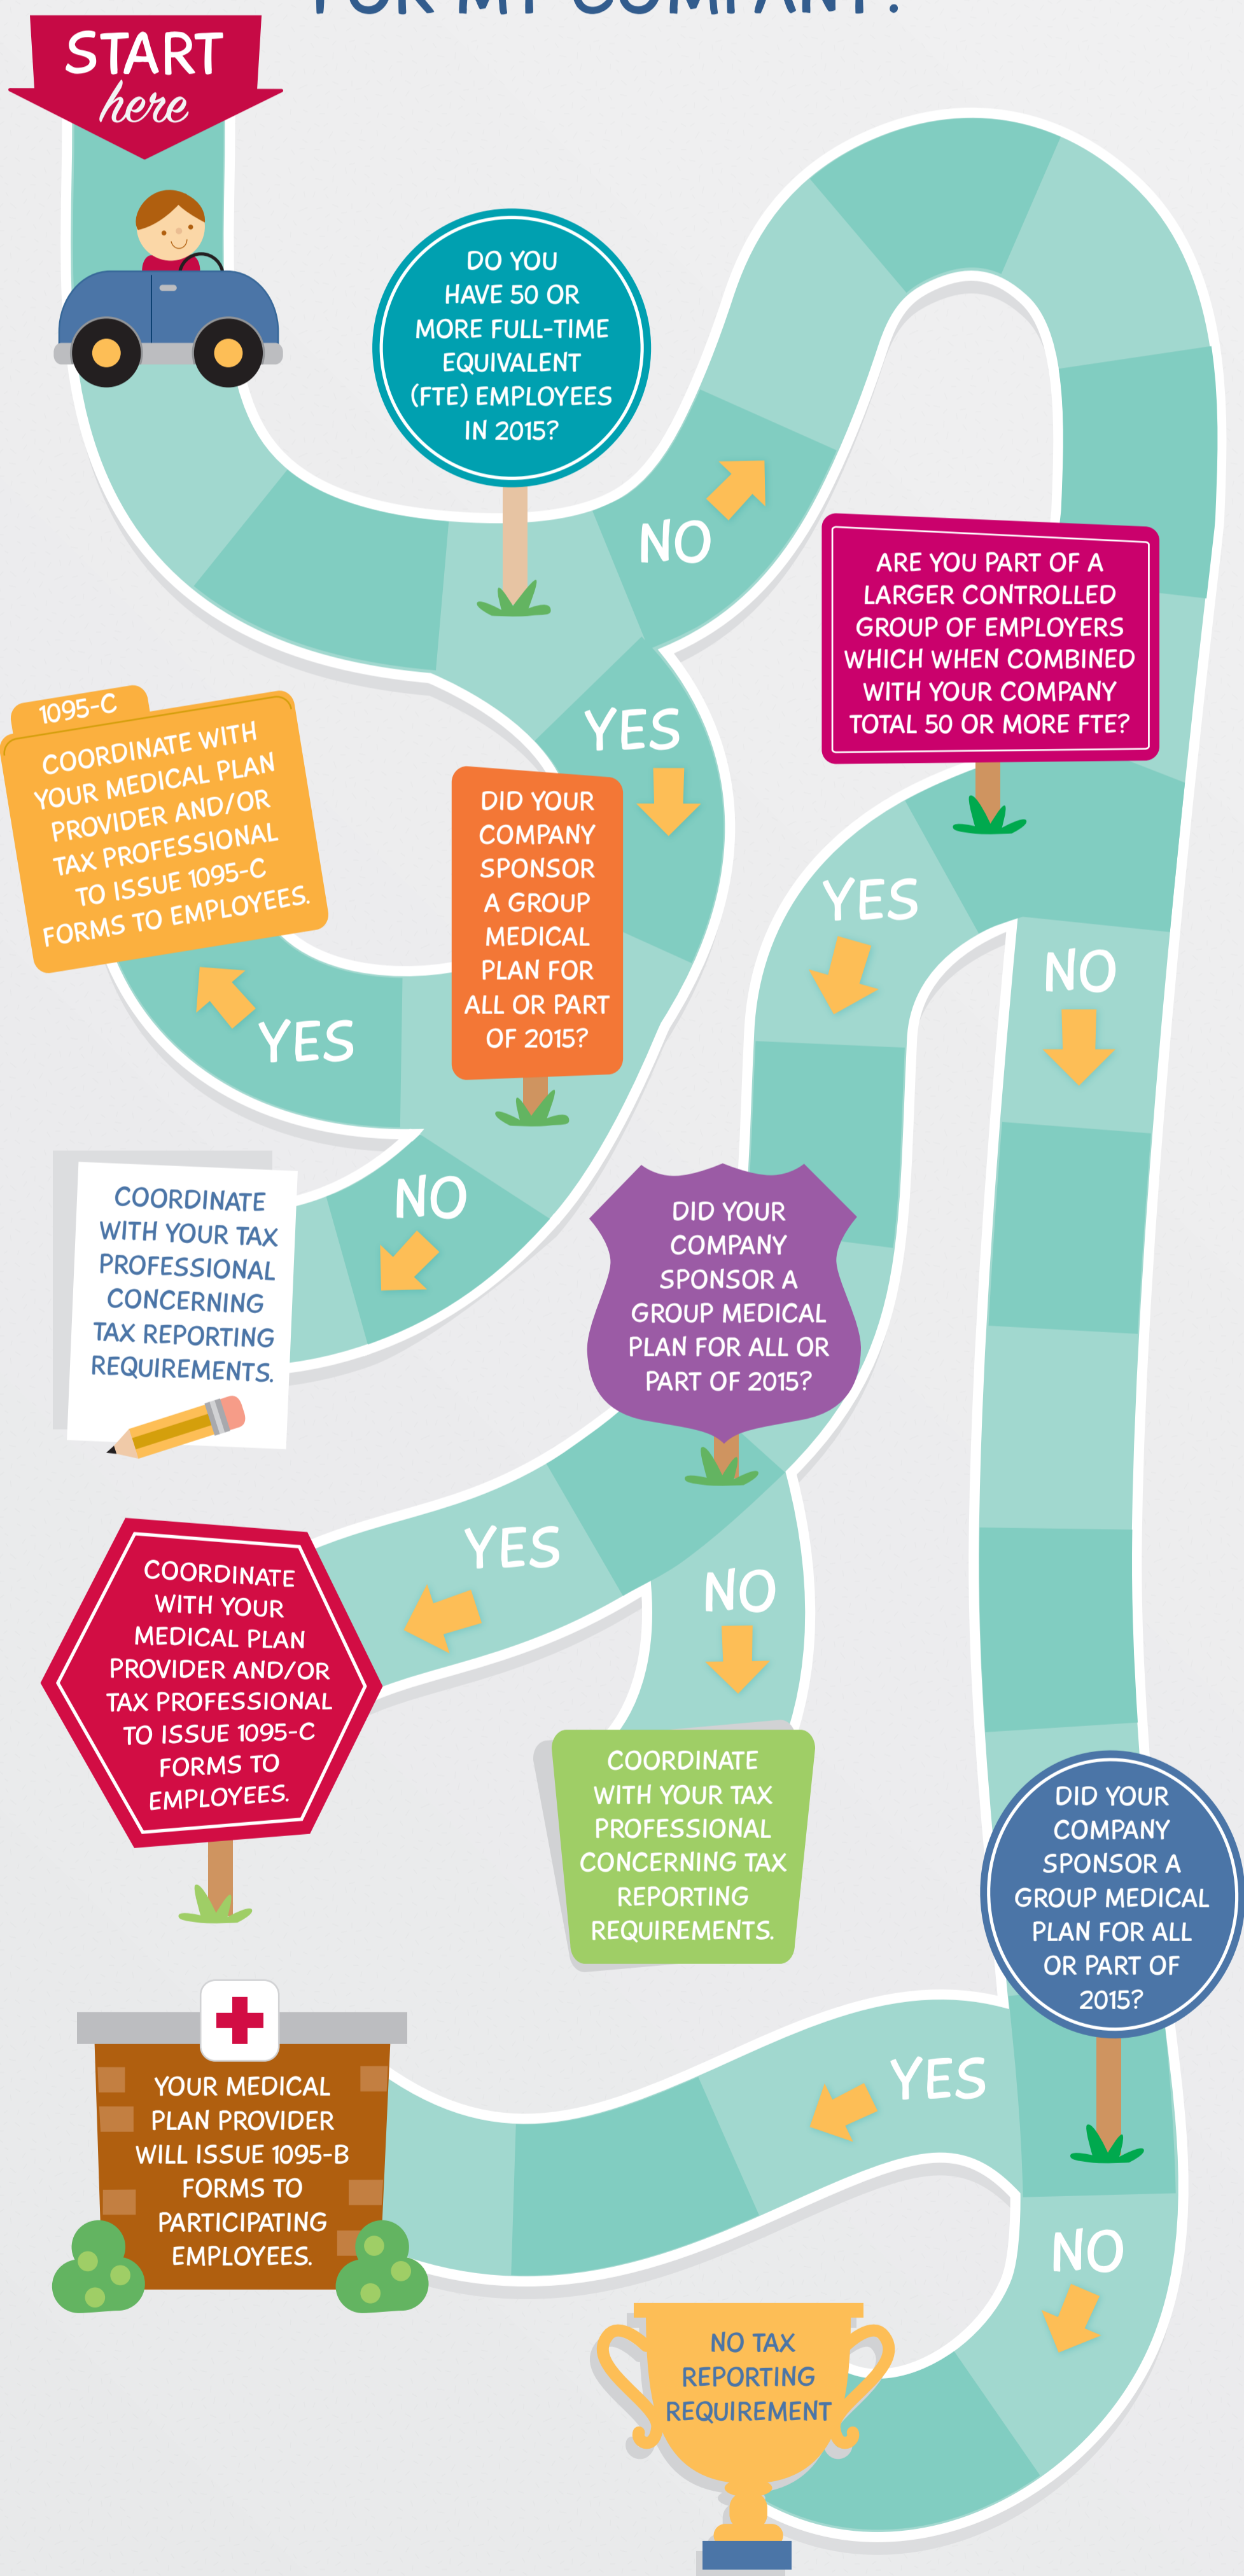

In June 2015, the United States Supreme Court upheld the Affordable Care Act in its current form, which means that certain requirements put into place when it was originally signed into law in 2010 are now set to move forward.

Even though the employer shared responsibility requirement (also called "pay or play") was delayed for some employers for 2015, there are still tax reporting requirements for employers with 50-99 full-time equivalent employees.

HOW DO I DETERMINE THE REPORTING REQUIREMENTS FOR MY COMPANY?

*Contact your medical plan provider or tax professional with questions about your ACA tax reporting requirements. This information is not intended to replace the advice of these sources.

*Clients of A Plus Benefits should contact our Benefits department with questions.

We want to do more than help you manage your benefits, HR, payroll and risk management needs. Our mission is to help you optimize and maximize the most important part of your business—your people. Our services remove the daily burdens that impede your employees' focus so they can apply uninterrupted energy, enthusiasm, talent and passion toward your mission.

www.aplusbenefits.com